PROPERTY DESCRIPTION

Rolling Oaks Ranch encompasses 576 scenic acres in western Young County, Texas, offering a rare combination of productive land, recreational appeal, and exceptional build potential. Defined by gently rolling topography, the ranch features a prominent high point on the north side, ideal for a homesite overlooking the expansive landscape and capturing sweeping views of the surrounding countryside.

Rolling Oaks Ranch is a diverse blend of native grasses, mature mesquite cover, and scattered oak trees, giving the ranch both character and functionality. Multiple ponds are strategically positioned across the property, providing reliable water sources for wildlife and livestock. These ponds are supplemented by three seasonal creeks, which enhance both the ranch's ecological diversity and recreational value.

With predominantly sandy loam soils, Rolling Oaks Ranch is well-suited for grazing operations and agricultural practices. The property offers excellent wildlife habitat, making it equally appealing as a hunting destination or private recreational retreat.

Utilities are available and located conveniently along Carmack Road, adding to the ranch's development potential while preserving its peaceful, rural setting. Whether you're seeking a working cattle operation, a recreational getaway, or a future homesite with panoramic views, Rolling Oaks Ranch presents an outstanding opportunity in the heart of North Texas.

AGENT COMMENTS: Rolling Oaks Ranch is an exceptional, clean, multi-use property. Whitetail deer hunting in this area is about as good as it gets in Young County. Road frontage on FM 578 and Carmack Road adds to the development potential of this ranch. Ranches of this size are increasingly harder to find within Young County, and because of its usefulness, this one won't last long.
