Diversity is the foundation of healthy ecosystems, abundant wildlife, and lasting land value—and few properties define diversity like The Highlands. This premier 900± acre hunting and recreational property in Amite County, Mississippi stretches for miles along the Amite River and features the remarkable confluence of the Amite River and Horniny Creek. Towering hardwoods, massive white oaks, rolling pine hills, reforestation areas, food plots, and abundant water create exceptional habitat for deer, turkey, waterfowl, and other wildlife. Miles of interior trails provide excellent access throughout this carefully managed property, while valuable timber adds long-term investment potential. With its extraordinary combination of river frontage, diverse habitat, privacy, recreation, and decades of thoughtful stewardship, The Highlands is a rare South Mississippi legacy property ready to be enjoyed for generations.
