PROPERTY DESCRIPTION

If you are a hardcore deer hunter, turkey hunter, or nature lover, you will want to see this farm! This +/- 55 acre Meigs County property is the ultimate whitetail hunting and management retreat, offering the perfect blend of water, cover, food, and sanctuary that allows mature bucks to thrive. The land features an incredible mix of habitat types, creating a diverse and highly attractive big-buck hunting setup in one of Ohio's most recognized trophy whitetail counties. The topography is impressively diversified, featuring a combination of bench tops, natural drainages, and varied contours that create year-round habitat advantages for whitetails. These natural features form ideal funnels, pinch points, bedding pockets, and secure travel corridors—offers an exceptional landscape for both hunting and long-term deer management. There is a food plot on the back side of the large field, where you'll find fruit trees and great cover leading into the plot. The plot was seeded in a mix of oat, beans, clover and rye. A thick drainage runs parallel to the field, providing natural bedding and sanctuary cover. A main trail leads down to the bottom, with additional secondary trails throughout, allowing excellent access from multiple directions. The gas right-of-way offers easy access all the way to the bottom, also which is a huge plus. The right-of-way offers an exceptional location for a gun-hunting blind with long-range visibility. The timber is scattered, with stands of white oak mixed with some young pines in areas, creating outstanding wildlife cover and future timber value. Sugar Camp Creek winds through the bottom of the property, accented by rocks and small outcroppings, adding scenery, water, and habitat diversity. The bottom also includes thick cover, isolated meadows, and multiple ideal food plot locations. It appears that a lot of the neighboring properties have been heavily logged, creating ideal bedding in the surrounding area also. Multi-facing slopes including South-facing slopes create excellent winter bedding areas, and the large upper field adds significant food plot potential and multiple high-odds ambush locations due to the well-established trail systems leading in and out. Access is a major highlight with the property offering east and west entry points, giving hunters multiple approach options based on wind and deer movement. Numerous potential build sites make this an ideal location for a remote hunting cabin or a year-round home. The scattered white oaks add beauty and value, with some timber value present. "Sellers" mineral, oil, and gas rights convey with the sale. Tree stands are negotiable.
