Sylvania Plantation Hunting Tract is a 125± acre hunting, recreational, and potential homesite property located in the Greenwood area of Jackson County, Florida. It's a well-laid-out tract with privacy, established improvements, and land that's easy to own and enjoy.

The property sits on all four sides of an intersection along Nubbin Ridge Road and Sylvania Plantation Road. A gated and fenced entrance provides security and privacy, and the internal road system allows the property to be used efficiently from corner to corner.

The land is a practical mix of open ground and timber, including interior agricultural row crop fields, planted pine timber, and hardwoods with scattered mature live oaks. The live oaks give the property a classic North Florida feel, and several areas are naturally suited for a beautiful homesite overlooking fields and woods.

The property is set up turnkey for hunting, with established stands and feeders included in the purchase. Surrounding ownership consists mainly of large agricultural and timber tracts, which helps keep hunting pressure low. This area of Jackson County is known for producing quality whitetail deer.

Improvements include a custom-built 14x48 cabin, a newly constructed 40x60 pole barn, water well, and power already in place, allowing the property to be used immediately.

Sylvania Plantation Hunting Tract is located approximately 8 miles from both Alabama and Georgia. Lake Seminole is also located nearby and provides 37,500 acres of excellent duck hunting, fishing, and access to multiple public boat ramps.

This is a solid, well-located property that offers a good balance of hunting, recreation, and future homesite potential.
