ROCK AWAY RANCH HEADQUARTERS (CONTINUED):

Creekhouse - Just steps away you'll find the centerpiece of the headquarters, the 900 sf Creekhouse. "Brilliant", really may be the best way to describe this structure. Built in 2018, this space was designed by the owners with family and guest gathering, comfort, and elegance all in mind. Offering a spacious living area and fully equipped kitchen with all stainless-steel appliances, gas range, honed black granite countertops and large bar-top island, and of course a full bath, the Creekhouse is like the ranch clubhouse or 19th hole, where you can slip off your shoes, kick back and watch the ballgame, enjoy a family dinner, or be utilized as the central hub for entertaining. Just outside you'll find 350 sf of patio space and a nearby firepit. Water is provided to the Creekhouse by its very own dedicated water well. This Trinity Aquifer well was drilled in 2018 at a depth of 435' and volume tested at 20-25 gpm at the time of installation.

Bunkhouse - For additional lodging the headquarters also offers a comfy 480 sf bunkhouse with custom designed double bunkbeds and a full bathroom. Each of the larger bottom bunks are equipped with their own phone, tablet, or gaming device charging station and reading lights. Water for both the main home and bunkhouse is provided by the local rural water supply company with water meter in place.

COWHOUSE CREEK FRONTAGE AND ADDITIONAL

WATER FEATURES: The 3P Ranch provides an impressive amount of easily accessible Cowhouse Creek frontage with just under a mile total, of which approximately 3,000' provides frontage and use of both sides as the Cowhouse winds its way through the east part of the ranch. The Cowhouse is a picturesque clear water, rock bottom creek that is locally thought of more like a river than creek, and will run year-round in normal rainfall years and typically maintain long stretches of water during drier conditions. The riparian areas that buffer the creek range from heavily wooded and brush covered providing prime wildlife habitat, to immaculate and pristinely maintained where you can enjoy a morning creek side walk or run. The headwaters of the Cowhouse begin one county over to the west in the hills of northeastern Mills County, then the creek winds its way to the southeast through Hamilton and Coryell County before reaching its terminus into Lake Belton in northern Bell County. Additional water features include ~960' of Henderson Branch frontage, 4 stock ponds, and multiple wet weather draws and drainages. The ranch offers reliable domestic use water sources with two private water wells as well as rural water service provided by Multi-County Water Supply.

TERRAIN: The natural lay of the land creates ~175' of wonderful elevation change and scenic views of the ranch and surrounding country side, with everchanging topography and diverse terrain which ranges from tillable creek/river bottom land and deep hardwood and brush covered draws, to high rocky ridgelines, outcroppings, points, and plateaus. Tree cover and vegetation include live oak, bur oak, post oak, elm, sycamore, cottonwood, hackberry, cedar, mesquite, bumelia, elbowbush, sumac, green briar, sand plum, and strong native grass pastures.

Approximately 100 acres of fertile creek bottom land is separated by cross fencing and Cowhouse Creek, providing 5 separate fields for hay and grain production. These fields are currently leased to and farmed by a local tenant, helping maintain the manicured look and feel of the ranch.

WILDLIFE AND HUNTING: The ranch is setup with numerous quality blinds and feeders in place, and has only been lightly hunted in recent years. The property and area are home to an abundance of native wildlife including whitetail deer, Rio Grande turkey, dove, the occasional quail, hog, coyote, fox, and bobcat. A variety of songbirds and squirrels are regular visitors near the headquarters.

ROADS AND FENCES: Primary access to the ranch is provided at a gated entrance on FM Highway No. 1241 where the property fronts for ~2,380'. There's also county road frontage with 408' along Hamilton County Road No. 415 on the north end of the ranch between FM 1241 and the Cowhouse Creek crossing, and 323' of Hamilton County Road No. 423 frontage along the southeast part of the ranch. An extensive network of improved all-weather ranch roads, unimproved pasture roads, and trails provide excellent travel throughout the property.

The perimeter is fenced, except areas where the boundary runs along Cowhouse Creek and Henderson Branch, and is all standard height fence in good condition to hold and turn livestock. There is some cross fencing in place and a set of working pens are centrally located within the ranch.

RANCH MANAGERS HOME AND BARNs: Near the heart of the ranch, situated on one of its higher elevations, is the 1,450-square-foot ranch foreman's home. This residence sits within a fenced and well-maintained 3-acre area. Within this space, you'll also find a roughly 2,800-sf barn that includes a 1,200-sf game processing room on one end and 1,600 square feet dedicated to equipment and implement storage on the other. Additionally, there is a rustic, rock-sided barn of ~2,500 sf that connects directly to the aforementioned working pens.

UTILITIES: Electric utility service is provided by Hamilton County Electrical Cooperative and rural water service by Multi-County Water Supply. Nextlink provides internet service to the ranch with a private receiver tower on property.

HAMILTON COUNTY, TEXAS | 511.44± ACRES

EASEMENTS: Additional access and a separate point of entry for accessing the ranch foreman's home is provided by a 30' wide deeded easement that only serves the 3P Ranch. The easement road runs west from Hamilton County Road No. 423, ~915' along an all-weather gravel road to a gated entrance and cattle guard located near the most easterly southeast corner. While this easement serves as the ranch foreman's primary access route, it also functions as a backup entry point for the owner whenever the interior crossing of the Cowhouse Creek becomes impassable due to high water. This ensures continuous access to all areas of the property. Additionally, the ranch is free from any large electric transmission lines or pipeline easements.
