Exceptional Hunting and Wildlife Habitat

This property was designed with wildlife and hunter use in mind. Several man-made water holes and natural seeps attract and hold game throughout the year, while established blinds provide ready-to-use hunting setups. The mix of piñon, juniper, sage, and oak brush creates ideal cover for elk and mule deer. Seasonal seeps and springs across the landscape ensure a year-round water source for both wildlife and stock.

Off-Grid Improvements and Ready-to-Use Setup

A historic trapper's cabin on the property offers potential for restoration or primitive shelter, while a cleared site on the southeast corner provides an ideal spot for a new off-grid cabin or hunting base camp. Included in the sale is a four-season camper, offering immediate comfort during hunts and recreational stays. The land's layout allows for camping, shooting, or simply enjoying the isolation of Colorado's backcountry.

Access, Terrain, and Location

Just minutes from De Beque and I-70, the property is accessed via a BLM trail that traverses scenic canyons and mesas. The route is in good condition for most of the year, though 4WD or ATV access is recommended, particularly during wet or snowy conditions. The diverse topography—from grassy benches and rocky ridges to wooded draws—creates natural funnels and travel corridors for wildlife, making this a hunter's paradise.

For those seeking complete seclusion, abundant wildlife, and limitless BLM access, this property offers a rare opportunity in one of Western Colorado's most desirable hunting regions. Whether you're looking for a private hunting base, an off-grid cabin site, or a long-term land investment with recreation appeal, this parcel delivers the rugged, untamed Colorado experience.
