PROPERTY DESCRIPTION

Located just off Bad River Road, 15 miles west of Ft. Pierre and 16 miles west of Pierre, this 796-acre parcel in Stanley County, South Dakota is a true western trophy property. Offering a rare combination of premier mule deer hunting, consistent income, and strong grazing potential, this tract sits in the heart of big buck country and has been thoughtfully managed for long-term wildlife and land stewardship.

The land features rolling native grasslands enrolled in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP), currently generating $11 per acre annually. This not only delivers a reliable return but also maintains critical habitat for wildlife. For the serious hunter, this property stands out. Carefully managed to support quality genetics and mature age structure, it offers the rugged terrain and secluded draws that trophy mule deer thrive in. Whether you plan to hunt it yourself or lease it, this ground is ready to deliver results.

In addition to its recreational value, the property offers excellent grazing opportunities. The combination of native grasses and gently undulating topography supports rotational or seasonal use, making it a great fit for livestock producers. With direct access off Bad River Road, the property provides easy access without sacrificing the peace and privacy of wide-open country.

This is a legacy investment, land that provides both personal enjoyment and practical return. Quality parcels like this are hard to find and even harder to hold on the open market. Don't miss your opportunity to own a prime piece of Stanley County.
