PROPERTY DESCRIPTION

She might not be blonde, but this property is definitely a bombshell! Follow the curves of Jordan Bottoms Rd to discover the Maryl Tract; a dynamic 123.6+/- acre legacy property located in highly sought after Monroe County, Georgia. With big mature timber, plentiful wildlife, five cascading creeks with rock formations, rolling topography, a great interior road system, multiple homesites, an outstanding pond site, and hardwood bottoms that will make your heart skip a beat, you can bet the Maryl Tract sets the foundation for your future hunting, investment, residential, and recreational needs.

Hunting - Pulling onto the property for the first time nearly ended with an insurance claim, as two great bucks nearly hit my vehicle on Jordan Bottoms Rd! This property is loaded with deer and turkey that have experienced minimal hunting pressure and have feasted on an infinite supply of acorns found all over the beautiful hardwoods of this property. Sit creekside in comfort in the rain or the cold in a brand new Fat Boy hunting blind, custom built on the property to extend those hunts no matter what the weather man says. You can hunt the extensive road system, or plant food plots in the multiple forest openings just screaming to be tilled and planted with your favorite food plot mix. If you are hunting for the perfect spot, zero in and set your pins on the Maryl Tract!

Investment - Located just a stone's throw from Forsyth, Georgia, this parcel of Monroe County soil has been growing huge timber for the last 40 years. Last harvested in about 1985, these trees have been reaching for the Monroe County sky year after year constituting not only a beautiful landscape, but also contributing to a substantial yield of merchantable timber. Aside from the mature timber value, the primary investment opportunity lies with the dirt itself; as Monroe County land prices have continued to climb year after year due to high demand for great schools, beautiful terrain, and the freedom of country life with the conveniences of I-75, while still retaining proximity to Macon and Atlanta.

Residential - Carve out a piece of the Maryl Tract to build your custom home! With multiple flat sites to build the home, cabin, or barndominium of your dreams, you will have room to stretch your legs and still be an ATV or golf cart ride away from hunting and recreation while still retaining the peace, quiet and serenity of owning 123.6 +/- acres in the countryside. Maybe you would consider a custom pond on the potential pond site and situate your home so you can enjoy peaceful evenings on the back deck watching the sun go down over the water; the possibilities are endless!

Recreation - Fill up your gas tank and ride all day over the extensive trail system which weaves a tapestry of fun over 123.6+/- acres of hills, valleys, creek crossings, and rock formations. Lace up those hiking boots and and navigate the creek edges and enjoy stunning mountain type scenery without the drive to the mountains. You may simply want to put a few miles on your mountain bike which will be exciting for any cycling enthusiast! Perhaps, you would rather unwind and relax and soak up nature; either way, the Maryl Tract has a way of speaking to your soul!

Listing Agent's Highlights - I would argue the Maryl Tract has some of the most stunning hardwood bottoms I have ever been on. As I was driving through for the first time, I literally switched off the side by side and just stopped to listen and walk around to soak in the pristine landscape. These hardwood bottoms are loaded with great timber, ferns, deer sign, creeks, but mostly an intoxicating feeling of peace and tranquility you just have to experience for yourself.

The Maryl Tract, being in the same family for about 100 years, is the type of legacy property that does not come to market very often. Undisturbed and idyllic, the Maryl Tract allows you to experience the dynamics of a large acreage tract, yet still be at the epicenter of a thriving and growing Monroe County, Georgia where you can safely raise a family, retire, or build a career. Your chance to experience life on a beautiful legacy property all starts with a call to Mossy Oak Properties and a date with Maryl In Monroe!
