PROPERTY DESCRIPTION

30.84± Prime Tillable Acres | Highly Productive Soils | Excellent Access

This 30.84± acre tract represents an outstanding opportunity to acquire high-quality, nearly all-tillable farmland with strong long-term production capability. The farm is comprised primarily of Drummer-Milford and Flanagan silt loams, two of the most sought-after soil types in the region, carrying an impressive 139.4 average Productivity Index (PI).

Drummer silt loam is a deep, dark prairie soil formed under native grasses. It is known for excellent moisture-holding capacity and consistent yield performance. In typical management scenarios, Drummer soils commonly support:

Flanagan silt loam is another highly productive prairie soil with excellent structure, natural fertility, and drainage characteristics. It is widely regarded as a premier row-crop soil.

The combination of these soils provides strong yield stability in both favorable and variable growing conditions.

The tract features good road access, allowing for efficient movement of equipment, grain hauling, and year-round entry.

This property is being offered in conjunction with a contiguous, equal-sized tract to the west, also priced at $424,050, creating the opportunity at a larger piece of ground.

Whether you are expanding your operation or seeking a solid land investment, this farm checks all the boxes: quality soils, strong PI rating, and convenient access.
