

An aerial photograph of a residential development nestled within a dense forest. The development features several large, multi-story houses with dark roofs and light-colored siding. Some houses have swimming pools in their backyards. A paved road curves through the center of the development, separating the houses into two main sections. The surrounding area is heavily wooded with tall, green trees. A teal diagonal line runs from the top right corner towards the bottom left, separating the aerial image from the white background on the right.
