PROPERTY DESCRIPTION

Hardin 249

249 ± Acres in Adamsville, Tennessee

Hardin 249 is a diverse property located in Hardin County near Adamsville, Tennessee. This is an rare opportunity to own a farm that offers quality deer, turkey, and duck hunting along the Tennessee River Flyway. The property is located only 1.5 miles from Shiloh National Military Park, an area well known for quality deer and abundant wildlife. A drive through the park near dark can reveal large, mature bucks moving throughout the surrounding landscape.

The property is located in the Snake Creek bottoms, where much of the surrounding land is farmed in corn, cotton and soybeans. Snake Creek is a tributary of the Tennessee River, which is 4 miles away. The property consists of approximately 100 acres of mature hardwood timber and 149 acres of 2-year-old hybrid loblolly pine.

Approximately 225 acres of the property is flat and usable, making it perfect for multiple large food plots. The western boundary follows the center of Snake Creek for approximately 4,600 feet, providing nearly a mile of creek frontage. In addition to the Snake Creek frontage, the property offers approximately 3.2 miles of large creeks that flood during the winter months, creating ideal conditions for wintering waterfowl and duck hunting.

Access is provided by two 50-foot-wide deeded developed easements. One entrance is paved, while the other is an established crowned and ditched gravel road, providing year-round access to the property. The property also features approximately 3.5 miles of interior trails, providing access throughout the tract for hunting, recreation, and timber management. The property is also only 5 miles from a public boat ramp on the beautiful Tennessee River.

Owner Financing is available.
