Pine Hill Lodge was thoughtfully reconstructed from an early-1900s barn originally built in Indiana. After nearly a century of use, the barn was carefully reclaimed and transformed into a stunning retreat that honors its history while offering modern comfort. The original barn now serves as the expansive main living area. Three bedrooms, three and a half baths, and a spacious kitchen were seamlessly added to the structure and designed to reflect and complement the charm of the original barn Throughout the home, you'll find hand-hewn beams, cozy fireplaces, and distinctive details at every turn.
