MORE ABOUT THE FAULKNER 36.6

The land is graced with mature trees, including beautiful pecan and persimmon trees, which add to the property's natural charm and offer excellent food sources for wildlife. The area is renowned for its abundant wildlife and trophy deer, making it a true hunter's paradise or a nature lover's haven. Four bucks from Faulkner County have been entered into the record books, underscoring the exceptional hunting opportunities this area provides. There's also an excellent spot on the northeast corner of the property for a duck slough, and the area is well known for outstanding duck hunting.

A unique advantage of this property is the adjoining land, which features a productive pumpkin farm and crop fields. These neighboring agricultural operations provide an additional, nutrient-rich food source that supports the local deer population and contributes to the growth of larger, healthier bucks. Not only do the crops benefit deer, but ducks also thrive in areas with abundant crops, as they provide both food and habitat. This agricultural abundance, combined with the natural habitat on the property, creates ideal conditions for both trophy deer and exceptional duck hunting.

Whether you're seeking a unique homesite, recreational land, or a wise investment, this property offers it all. Don't miss your chance to own a rare tract in one of Central Arkansas's most sought-after hunting, fishing, and outdoor recreation locations.
