MORE ABOUT THE PULASKI 11

The gently sloping terrain is accented by young hardwood trees that provide a natural balance of openness and privacy, giving you flexibility in how you design your homesite. A wet-weather stream flows east to west across the property, adding character and a touch of natural charm. There is also a cleared shooting lane currently used for target practice, offering a ready-made space for recreational shooting and outdoor enjoyment right on your own land.

Located within a subdivision that includes covenants and restrictions, the property benefits from added protection of the area's quiet character and long-term value, ideal for buyers who want both freedom and peace of mind.

If you're looking for acreage that offers space to breathe, room to build, and a clear path forward, the Pulaski 11 checks all the right boxes and is ready for its next owner to make it home.
