From fishing and kayaking along the tranquil creek waters, exploring scenic marshlands teeming with birds and wildlife, or launching a boat for quick access to the Neuse River and Pamlico Sound, this area is perfect for anyone looking to enjoy recreation and relaxation surrounded by nature. Situated within the Mariner's Landing Subdivision, this property includes two lots, 9 and 9A, positioned across from one another on North Berne Landing Road, which ends in a cul-de-sac. Please note, these lots are subject to certain encumbrances. For details regarding specific restrictions, please refer to the Declaration of Covenants, Reservations, and Restrictions of Mariners Landing on file.

The tract located on the left side of the road, identified as lot 9, is about 2.17 acres and features 100+/- feet of road frontage along North Berne Landing Road, and 110+/- feet of frontage on Upper Broad Creek. Given its location adjacent to Upper Broad Creek, part of lot 9 includes wetlands and may contain surface water at times. The entire parcel lies within the FEMA 100-year floodplain. Much of the lot consists of protected 404 wetlands, with a conservation area running along the creek. The topography is level, with roughly half covered in marsh grasses and the other half featuring pine timber with a few scattered hardwoods.

The tract on the right side of North Berne Landing Road, identified as Lot 9A, spans approximately 1.36 acres and features 515+/- feet of road frontage. Lot 9A lies entirely within the FEMA 100-year floodplain, with its lower southern portion extending into the FEMA 500-year floodplain. Unlike Lot 9, this parcel does not contain surface water, though a small area along the northern boundary is classified as protected 404 wetlands. The terrain is level, primarily planted in pines, with a few hardwoods located near the 404 wetland area.

Additionally, a 20x30-foot drainage easement can be located near the northern property line, close to where Lot 9's road frontage begins across the street, along North Berne Landing Road. A 35-foot easement, beginning about 130 feet from the eastern property boundary, provides access to the Weyerhaeuser parcel located behind Lot 9A. A site suitability study completed in April 2025 determined that there is sufficient area within Lot 9A to install a conventional septic system to serve a 3-bedroom dwelling on the property. This soil report is available upon request and is provided to assist the permitting authority in evaluating the site.

From the property, you are about 18 minutes from New Bern (13 miles), 30 minutes from Vanceboro (24 miles), 50 minutes from Washington (40 miles), and just a little over an hour from Greenville, NC. For those with recreational interests, Latham-Whitehurst Nature Park is just a short 12 minute drive down the road (10 miles), and Lees Landing NCWRC Boating Access Area is also located within walking distance, perfect for a short fishing trip or day out on the water!
