Concordia Parish 94 Acre WRP Tract Clayton, LA / Concordia County

PROPERTY DESCRIPTION

This 93.82 acre WRP Tract is conveniently located near Clayton, Louisiana on the gravel parish Haley Road which comprises the west boundary. Other timber tracts form the north and west boundary. Agricultural fields currently make up the east and south boundaries and are currently in corn production. As can be seen on the current aerial attached, more wooded land is common with the southwest corner as well as being very close (1/4 mile) to the southeast corner. This is one of the oldest WRP tracts in Concordia Parish, being conveyed into the program in 1994. The tract was planted primarily in red oak and was recently thinned deploying the third-row method in accordance with a strict plan developed for wildlife habitat improvement by the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Department. One of the primary features was dispersed unuseable tops throughout the tract for wildlife cover.

The tract has excellent deer hunting and some duck hunting along the natural drain traversing the tract in a general east-west direction at about the mid-point as can be seen on both the pre-WRP aerial and USGS Quad map attached. Also, there is a low wet area in the southeast portion of the tract which was not planted in oak that can be seen as well. In addition to these features is a very large electric transmission line traversing the tract at basically the north one-third (N1/3), providing another deer hunting opportunity.

Internal access is along a woods road following the south line and one following the natural drain mentioned above. This tract is affordable and ready to go, so give me, Tom Middleton, a call at 601-597-5727 to set up an viewing today.

If for some reason this tract is smaller than preferred, see our website for another 117.23 acres to the north which shares a common corner, but not common boundary line which when purchased together could more than double the size.
